Kaisermutt Translation Notes

Thanks again to Watawheel for the raws.

Recently I bought all 5 Suicide Girl volumes for $50. This isn't the first time I've bought manga in Japanese, but this is the first time I figured out that if I buy many at the same time Amazon has the common sense to ship them in one package, so I payed roughly the same I would have in shipping for one volume. $10 per volume is better than you can expect from retail of an English release, so if you want a copy of Suicide Girl I highly recommend you buy it.

On page 11 Yugame-chan says キラリィィィ胃胃胃 (kirariii), the last three having the furigana イ. 胃 is the character for stomach, but it is not one of the standard man'yougana nor a hentaigana for イ. This is very weird.

On page 24 Akane says 手加減してる服はありません (tekagen shiteru fuku wa arimasen, there are no going-easy clothes). This doesn't make a lot of sense and I can't find any similar constructions. I went for "no more messing around"

That hangfire on page 35 would be pretty dangerous. It just goes to show you, don't go messing with rusty old revolvers. Also there's the added danger of getting possessed by a sexy demon.

All of the new girl's things are gun pun related, the first is 被弾丸少女, (hidangan shoujo, combining 被弾 (get shot) and 弾丸 (bullet))

I put ほえ as hoë instead of hoeh, an instance of dieresis. It's like Brontë or coöperate, written that way to distinguish syllable barriers so you don't think it's pronounced bront or cuperate. This is kind of obscure and doing this is probably a bad idea for comprehensibility since dieresis is somewhat obscure, but I like it.

I made the girl speak with Wild Words when transformed and Chatter Box when normal, to reflect the rough-and-tumble tomboyish way she talks in costume.

She says こんにちはそして死ね (hello and now die) with furigana ハローアンドデストロイ (hello and destroy)
